ARTS

Graduates of this program will:

- 1. Analyze data and arguments from multiple perspectives as part of critical thinking skills.
- 2. Demonstrate ability to speak effectively in front of groups.
- 3. Use appropriate technology for research, including basic laboratory equipment and including computers with current industry-standard productivity software such as the Microsoft Office Suite platform.
- 4. Competently perform computations and communicate results in written and spoken forms.
- 5. Articulate and apply the scientific method.
- 6. Express an awareness of current ethical and diversity issues.