ELECTRONICS TECHNOLOGY

The Electronics Technology program prepares the graduate for an entry-level position in the electronics industry. Employment opportunities include a wide range of careers in research and development, computer service, manufacturing, and communication industries. Electronic technicians develop, manufacture, and service electronic equipment using sophisticated measuring and diagnostic equipment. Students may apply the associate degree coursework to a Bachelor Degree in Engineering Technology (Electronics program) offered at NMSU Las Cruces.

Electronics Technology - Associate of Applied Science (http://catalogs.nmsu.edu/alamogordo/degrees-certificates/electronics-technology/electronics-technology-associate-applied-science)

Career & Technology Division
New Mexico State University Alamogordo
2400 N. Scenic Drive
Alamogordo, NM 88310

Division Head:
Cathy Aguilar-Morgan

Administrative Assistant:
Michelle Nelson

Office Location:
Science Center (https://www.google.com/maps/d/edit?mid=1SjtAjNN3ZeSpRw5Kd9PLdm6ZCR4)

Phone:
575.439.3761 (http://catalogs.nmsu.edu/alamogordo/degrees-certificates/electronics-technology/tel:5754393761)

eMail:
ctNMSUA@nmsu.edu (ctnmsua@nmsu.edu)

Website:
http://nmsua.edu/career-and-technology/