

SOCIOLOGY - GRADUATE MINOR

The Department of Sociology offers a Graduate Minor in Sociology to graduate students in other departments on campus at NMSU. For the minor in Sociology, students are required to complete 9 credits (3 courses) of graduate-level Sociology coursework. One course must be a core graduate Sociology course (SOC 5153 Seminar in Sociological Research, SOC 5157 Seminar in Qualitative Research Methods, SOC 5163 Issues in Advanced Quantitative Analysis, and SOC 5165 Foundations of Social Theory), and the remaining two courses must be elective Sociology courses. An elective Sociology course is any other non-core SOC 5000+ course except for SOC 5110 Perspectives on Sociology, SOC 5998 Internship and SOC 5999 Master's Thesis.

Prefix	Title	Credits
Complete one course (3 credits) from the following:		3
SOC 5153	Seminar in Sociological Research
SOC 5157	Seminar in Qualitative Research Methods
SOC 5163	Issues in Advanced Quantitative Analysis
SOC 5165	Foundations of Social Theory
Complete two courses (6 credits) from any other SOC 5000+ courses with the exception of SOC 5110, 5998, 5999.		6
Total Credits		9